

April 14

On this day in 1912, a young man by the name of David Sarnoff, a telegraph operator in New York City, transmitted the first news of the Titanic hitting an iceberg. For it's time the Titanic was an impressive sailing vessel. If you could sail around the world, what would be some of the places you would want to visit?